* 45% OF SERVAS MEMBERS WORLDWIDE IN SERVASONLINE

24 countries have all their members' data in ServasOnline (see below) and are starting to use ServasOnline instead of their previous member administration system. Transferring data from Dolphin has been made possible thanks to the work of Janek Dzierzawski, a Polish Servas member and member of the ServasOnline Team.

Today 45% of the Servas world members are registered in ServasOnline.

The following Servas countries have transferred all their membership data to ServasOnline [date in brackets]: France [July 24 2016], Paraguay [October 2 2016], Lebanon, Jordan, Kenya [October 3 2016], Uganda [October 12 2016], Saudi Arabia [October 16 2016], India, Canada [October 26 2016], South Africa [November 17 2016], Costa Rica [December 23 2016], Turkey [January 23 2017], Guatemala [January 30 2017], Brazil [February 6 2017], Slovakia February 19 2017], New Zealand March 3 2017], Iran March 30 2017], Switzerland, Sweden and Denmark [April 3 2017], Austria and the Czech Republic [May 5 2017], Australia [May 9 2017], Spain May 17 2017].

A Servas traveller can search for a host in those countries in ServasOnline but for the time being it is recommended not to write to them through the mailing system of ServasOnline. The reason is that some of those countries are still in the process of training their members using the new system. So please use traditional means of communication like email and telephone to contact your would-be hosts during this transition period.

In addition, three countries - France, Sweden and Denmark - have successfully created their Members list from ServasOnline and are able to publish it in a PDF format.

Bernard Andrieu, ServasOnline Project Manager

* SERVASONLINE STATUS REPORT 2017

There are more and more countries actively working on loading their members' data on our new membership administration system ServasOnline. An increasing number of Servas countries are training on how to use the system and encouraging their members to update their personal profile in ServasOnline.

At this point it's very important that all individual members of Servas update these personal profiles.

Each individual member should go online as soon as possible and complete her/his profile and place her/his home on the Servas map. Personal data can only be seen by Servas members, who have completed the membership process in their own countries.

Travellers can view host profiles to choose the hosts they'd like to meet. They can locate a would-be host on a world map, which is very convenient for organizing Servas travel.

Most Servas countries chose to put one record for each household, others put one record for each individual. This is an important issue that must be solved so that as soon as possible we secure conformity in the way data is registered. The rule will be one person=one record, not one household=one record. Please bear in mind that it is possible to link the profiles of the members of the same household.

National ServasOnline administrators in 57 countries have administrative access (admin access) and participate in the ServasOnline User Group to learn more about the system.

The ServasOnline User Group is a very active team involved in writing user guides. The User group is also engaged in discussions on many topics and is suggesting solutions. The ServasOnline User Team can be contacted via an email to servasonline@servas.se. Please note-that only Servas administrators should contact-the ServasOnline User Team.

A young front-end developer has accepted the role of-helping Servas to make the website fully responsive for smartphones and tablets. This development will be very important, so that Servas can offer a service that is catering to the needs of many modern travellers.

A small group of Servas volunteers have recently been engaged in a small-scale project to enhance developments and fix bugs in the ServasOnline system. This could be the start of a new Servas development team. Are you interested in taking part in such a team? Please email servasonline@servas.org.

* 50 MEMBERS IN NEWLY ESTABLISHED SERVAS RWANDA

Servas Rwanda member Emmanuel Nyampatsi speaking to Servas Rwanda members about inner peace. Photo: Agnes Umutesi, Youth Coordinator of Servas Rwanda.

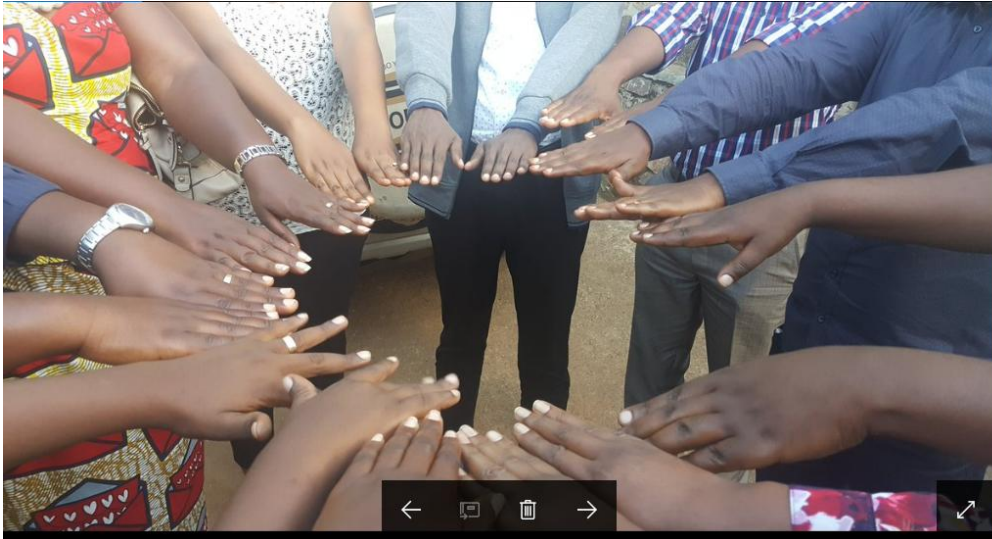

Servas is now a fully registered non-governmental organisation (NGO), in Rwanda working on peace. Jan Passion, a United States of America citizen, planted the seeds of Servas Rwanda during a visit to the African country. Besides core Servas activities the organization is involved in gender issues, social cohesion, men and women as partners for peace building reports Fidel Rutayisire, Servas Rwanda National Secretary.

The new group is also making plans to organize a Servas African regional conference, scheduled from 26 to 31 August in Rwanda. The ambition is to host members from African countries and other parts of the world.

Servas Rwanda now has approximately 50 members. The group is active in writing proposals and apply for funding. They would appreciate if you send them proposals in the areas of peace, gender and social cohesion.

You can contact Servas Rwanda via their website www.rwandaservas.org

* RWANDA TO HOST INTERNATIONAL MEETING IN AUGUST

In August Servas Rwanda is hosting a regional and international meeting with the theme “Sustaining Servas in Africa: Strengthening national networks and building for the future”.

The main objectives of the meeting is to:

- Increase awareness of Servas in Africa
- Strengthen Servas national networks in Africa on how to make Servas a strong peace organization
- Evaluate the impact of Servas in Africa and create a development strategy
- Make links with other Servas networks from outside Africa
- Learn about the best practices in peace building within Rwanda after the genocide against the Tutsi
- Share experiences about the transition to ServasOnline so far and identify any issues to be addressed

The outputs from the meeting shall include:

- Understanding of opportunities and challenges of Servas in Africa among Servas country networks especially countries neighbouring Rwanda including Uganda, Burundi, Kenya, Tanzania, the DRC
- New strategies for making Servas sustainable in African countries
- Writing a Development strategy for Servas in Africa to be presented at SICOGA 2018
- A youth mainstreaming strategy for Servas in Africa
- Giving feedback to Servas International about the progress of ServasOnline in Africa.

The meeting will be held in Rwanda, Rubavu district at Centre Benedictine de Kigufi on 28-31 August 2017. International guests will arrive on August 26 2017 and will be hosted by Servas families on August 26 and 27.

The registration can be done on Servas Rwanda's website. On May 25 the organization had received more than ten registrations from Africa, including four registrations from Cameroon, two from Tanzania, and one from each from Burundi, Ethiopia, Gambia and Zambia.

 KOREA TO HOST SICOGA 2018

Servas Korea will be hosting the next Servas International Conference and General Assembly (SICOGA) in Seoul in the Republic of Korea in October 2018. The planned dates are October 13-20, 2018.

The decision was made at the 2017 SI Executive Committee (Exco) meeting held from March 30-April 2, 2017 in Spain. The other interested member group, Servas Colombia, has written to congratulate Servas Korea and support them.

Further information will be sent when more details are available.

SI Exco looks forward to meeting with all of you in Seoul Korea, and to a productive and enjoyable conference.

In peace,

Penny Pattison, SI General Secretary

 MAY 2017 SI DISTANT VOTE COMPLETED

The most recent Servas International Distant Vote ended on May 31, 2017 and included only one motion: "Approval of 2015-16 Audited Accounts".

The motion passed with 42 votes in favour, no votes against, three abstentions and one invalid vote. The Distant Vote Administrator, Chris Patterson, wrote: "The motion achieved the double majority necessary for it to be declared adopted as if they have been passed by a meeting of the General Assembly."

* “TRAVEL PEACEFULLY AND WALK LIGHTLY ON THE EARTH”

As a hosts and travellers network, Servas has the potential to contribute to the protection of the environment and to raise awareness of environmental issues. Servas can promote an ethical way of travelling, compatible with sustainable development.

In Servas we prefer to call ourselves “travellers” rather than “tourists”, as our main goal is not to head off to tourist sites, but to integrate into our hosts' communities, and share their daily life.

On March 8, Danielle Serres (Servas International Peace Secretary) and Daniela Donges, (SI Representative in Geneva) organized a side event on the theme at the UNOG, where we asked ourselves and the attendees: “How can we contribute to the Sustainable Development Goals”.

Several Servas members as well as various NGOs members attending the panel expressed tourism concerns and shared their experiences as travellers.

The meeting was arranged since the United Nations General Assembly has declared 2017 as the International Year of Sustainable Tourism for Development, recognizing “the importance of international tourism [...] in fostering better understanding among peoples everywhere, in leading to a greater awareness of the rich heritage of various civilizations and in bringing about a better appreciation of the inherent values of different cultures, thereby contributing to the strengthening of peace in the world”.

At the end of the meeting, we recalled one of the decisions taken in October 2015 at Servas International General Assembly, including this wonderful statement:

“Travel peacefully and walk lightly on the earth”.

* PHOTOS AND TEXTS FOR 2018 PEACE CALENDAR NEEDED

Message from Servas International Peace Secretary about Servas 2018 Peace Calendar and International Peace Day :

I look forward to receiving your contribution about initiatives related to Peace undertaken so far, so we can include them in Servas Peace Calendar 2018. Please send good quality photos with a clear caption to peacesecretary@servas.org by September 30.

As for International Peace Day, this year’s theme is “Together for Peace: Respect, Safety and Dignity for All.”

* DANISH HOST LIST COORDINATOR: EMBRACE SERVASONLINE

Susanne Thestrup, who coordinated the online transition for Servas Denmark, encourages fellow Servas members around the world to engage in the use and development of ServasOnline, the new web-based member administration system.

Please note that only Servas administrators should be contacting the ServasOnline User Team, as mentioned below.

Susanne Thestrup's message to everybody:

It is crucial that we get all countries in ServasOnline as soon as possible and get hosts to take active charge of their own profiles. I encourage all to take an active role. Put pressure on the people responsible, offer to help, encourage fellow members to be active, get acquainted with the system and update the profiles. We have to work hard to avoid the frustrations that stem from hosts half transferred to ServasOnline and the hurdles many people face in starting to use the system. The current system is still work in progress. For example the templates of the Letter of Introduction (LOI) and the PDF host list are not satisfactory. But it will come when the change requests we listed are implemented. We must all keep in mind we're in a difficult and in many ways chaotic transition period, so please don't bash the system. It's a big and complicated thing catering to the many needs of various countries. I take part in the ServasOnline User Team which loves feedback and ideas and try hard to act on your input where possible.

Contact the ServasOnline User Team by emailing servasonline@servas.se

Susanne Thestrup, Host list coordinator, Servas Denmark

Comment about Modern LOI in development

Pablo Colangelo, SI Host List Coordinator, comments on the evaluation above about LOI's:
“Electronic Letter of introduction (e-LOI) and PDF host lists are being developed and improved in ServasOnline and will be available after the migration process is completed according to the priorities that have been set by SI Exco and the ServasOnline Team.”

* NEW BRANCHES: MALI AND THE AMERICAS

With great help from Servas travellers going to Central America, Servas in Nicaragua and Cuba has been re-established. Individual travellers spreading the idea of Servas while visiting foreign countries is a tried and tested method. Special thanks goes to Gislaine Lecomte, Helga Merkelbach, Reut Harel, Jean Seymour, Arnoud Philipppo, Dan Carino, and Rita Dessauvage of the Membership Committee. Now it's up to the Development Committee to help the new branches m grow.

We have now three members in Servas Cuba with Michel Sanz as coordinator. In Nicaragua there are seven members in Nicaragua and Jimmy Daniel Espinoza Moraga is the key person. Welcome to Servas family Servas Cuba and Servas Nicaragua!

In January this year Servas Bolivia had a national meeting at the suggestion of one of its members, Peter Breekelmans. The group elected new coordinator Danny Balderrama, who replaced Gustavo Molina. Servas Bolivia now has 24 members. Thank you Servas Bolivia for this successful and effective action.

There's also a new Servas group in Mali. Mohamed Ba Diarra is the coordinator of Servas Mali, which has ten members.

Ewa Dzierzawska, SI Development Committee

Editor's note: SI News Bulletin No 1 2017 reported that Servas now also has a branch in the Dominican Republic, which is also in the Caribbean. Ysabel Molina set up this Servas branch.

* SI ARCHIVES SECURE AT THE HI ARCHIVE IN THE USA

SI General Secretary Penny Pattison, SI Archivist Anna Koster, and US Servas International Representative Mary Jane Mikuriya at the Hoover Institution of War, Revolution and Peace Archives (HI Archives) located near San Francisco at Stanford University.

Servas International is privileged to have a reliable and secure place to keep our archives, for hundreds of years to come. In 2009, the SI Archivist Grant Barnes, from US Servas, arranged to preserve the Servas International and US Servas archives at the prestigious Hoover Institution of War, Revolution and Peace Archives (HI Archives), located near San Francisco at Stanford University. At that time, the HI Archives staff did an initial review of the materials submitted and produced a "Preliminary Inventory to the Servas International records" for the 110 boxes, available online at http://www.oac.cdlib.org/findaid/ark:/13030/kt7870361q/entire_text/

The SI Archivist elected at the 2015 General Assembly, Anna Koster, is now proceeding to review the SI archives and support SI Exco in moving towards creating SI online historical records to complement the SI archives. She is working with an Archiving Consulting Group made up of herself, Mary Jane Mikuriya, US Servas International Representative, and Penny Pattison, SI General Secretary. Any Servas members with experience with archives would be a welcome addition to the Archiving Consulting Group.

Anna, Mary Jane and Penny met for three 3 full days in San Francisco in late May 2017 to work on an action plan for the SI Archives and SI online historical documents, both the past and looking to the future. They also drafted a format for reviewing the contents of the boxes and piloted it at the HI Archives. HI Archives senior staff met with them and gave advice and provided encouragement. They also supported our plan to remove inappropriate or duplicate material, as well as logically separating US Servas material from SI material as much as possible. It was agreed that new material (increments) will be added once every three years, since increments are a lot of work for the HI Archives staff. The next increment will be done in early 2018.

Countries wishing to add to SI archives documents should contact the SI Archivist. Posters ,and/or photos must clearly identify each donated item including title, date, purpose, why it is important, and if it is a photo, to clearly identify each individual pictured, location and date, the event as well as its significance as archival material.

The most important thing to come out of the meetings in San Francisco was a definition for SI Archives and SI online historical documents, which will allow us all to move forward understanding each other better! Many of us had been confusing the terms and Anna explained it clearly.

- SI Archives – physical objects in secure storage, protected and under the responsibility of the storage location, for all time, related to SI; also documents related to SI that originated electronically, protected, upgraded, and converted as required to preserve access to the documents and under the responsibility of the storage location, for all time.
- SI Online historical documents – items of interest to the SI community available on the internet, with no guarantee of being for all time, to be maintained by SI volunteers (ICT, Archivist, General Secretary...).

The next steps are:

- To prepare a more detailed description of the SI material in the boxes, and put it into a searchable PDF file.
- To define what to put in the SI online historical documents.
- To review the information in the old siexco.org website (which is password protected) and identify items for inclusion in the SI online historical documents.
- To review the information in the HI Archives and identify items for inclusion in the SI online historical documents, as well as determining the best way to put it online.

At the end of the weekend, we felt pleased with the progress we had made and ready to share the information with the rest of the Servas international world.

* AD: WEBSITE DEVELOPER FOR SERVAS INTERNATIONAL WEBSITE

Servas has developed a collaboration platform called ServasOnline.

The first release of ServasOnline is on line.

ServasOnline is a multilingual website. It regularly publishes in four languages news from member countries.

In the part of the website dedicated to members, members have access to the database of all the members worldwide. The members can therefore select and contact members in order to meet them during their travels all over the world.

The website is built on the Drupal CMS (Content Management System) and mySql.

Responsibilities

Servas International is recruiting a website developer for our website servas.org.

As Website Developer (company or individual) you will be responsible for maintenance and enhancements of the ServasOnline website.

You will report and work in close collaboration with the Servas Application Manager (currently Bernard Andrieu).

Your activities will cover:

- Continuity of operations (24/7) in collaboration with the system manager in charge of the Servas server (ICT Team)
- Corrective maintenance (bug fixes)
- Improvement of the application (major changes are planned as part of a second release) based on change requests from Servas App. Manager
- Alerts, Suggestions and recommendations for better use, user-friendliness, technical coding, performance, responsiveness of the website
- Assistance to the Servas Web Editor in updating web content
- Preparation of communication and training documents related to the application usage and to changes, in collaboration with the ServasOnline Team

Key Skills:

- Good communication and pedagogical skills
- Fluent English, other languages such as French, Spanish, German are a plus
- Technical skills: Drupal 7, PHP, mySQL, Linux, HTML, CSS, bootstrap, jQuery.

Additional Information

- Communication – mainly in English – by means of ServasOnline website, e-mail, phone, video chat, voice call services, cloud
- You will work on a telework basis
- Our estimate is that this job requires a part time activity
- Experience with NGO is a plus

About Servas

Servas International is a worldwide Non-Governmental Organization which runs a traveler-host hospitality program based on values of tolerance between people of different cultures, backgrounds and nationalities.

About Servas International

Servas International is an international, non-profit, non-governmental federation of national Servas groups, supporting an international network of hosts and travellers.

Our network aims to help build world peace, goodwill and understanding by offering opportunities for personal contacts between people of different cultures, backgrounds and nationalities.
